

Delta Group Mass Data

- 1) All data is presented in ug/m<sup>3</sup>
- 2) Descriptions of the 3 and 8 drum samplers are presented in Appendix C.
- 3) All date/time fields are approximate. Drum samplers utilize constant rotation of drums to maintain time synchronization; however power failures and other issues can cause some drifting of the time. As a result, the data analyst must correlate drum readings with meteorological events to confirm exact time.
- 4) Drum samplers used in this study make one revolution of the drum in approximately 6.5 weeks. Each time a drum set is changed, the data will start with a new header.
- 5) As particulate is deposited on drums, each stage has a width of particulate deposit, determined by the slit width of each stage. This spreading of deposit on the drums can result in particulate being deposited on a portion of the drum prior and after the actual start and stop times of the sampler operation. This is why you will occasionally see slight overlapping of data between drum changes.
- 6) Invalid data is indicated by -999.
